

METHODS, SYSTEMS AND COMPUTER PROGRAM PRODUCTS FOR GENERATING EVENTS HAVING A COMMON EVENT FORMAT

5

Abstract of the Disclosure

Methods, systems and computer program products are provided for generating events having common formats by obtaining a populated common base event including source specific situation information for an event source. It is determined if a format of the populated common base event conforms to a predefined event format.

10 and a common event format representation of the populated common base event is generated based on the predefined event format if the format of the populated common base event does not conform to the predefined event format.

#359414